7.2 Best Practices

7.2.1

Describe two best practices successfully implemented by the Institution as per NAAC format provided in the Manual

Response:

1. Title of the Practice

TARUPREET PRAKALPA

2. Objectives of the Practice

- 1) Tarupreet project was undertaken with the main objective of greening the barren land in Sinnar taluka.
- 2) Since the amount of rain in Sinnar taluka is very low, from that point of view this project can be beneficial for it.

3. The Context

Uncertain changes in the environment, variability of rainfall, all these aspects show human encroachment on the environment. This problem faced by the whole world needs to be considered on a personal level. Recognizing the need of the hour, we have undertaken a project to make the barren area green, to make a green revolution. Sinnar taluka is a drought-prone part of Nasik district in the east. That's why we thought to make the area green and flourishing in the future by planting seeds on the barren land and that's how the project started.

4. The Practice

What can we do to help nature sustain its existence, can we do something creative? Such a question arose in my mind. Basically, since I myself have a great love and interest in nature since childhood, this question did not allow me to sit still.

In March 2019, with the help of the students, we collected some seeds and went to the barren area before the onset of monsoon and planted the seeds. In the month of March, the students of the college were explained about the activity and given complete information. And the students really liked it. Their enthusiasm made me feel excited too. Since the month of March, I have received the seeds of mango, tamarind, wad, karanji, Custered apple, neem trees from the students. The students were divided into groups and distributed to each group and we found an area in Sinnar taluka where there is a great need for planting trees, growing greenery. After going to such a place, we took a look at the situation there and undertook a program to plant seeds of trees that can withstand low water, can withstand and cannot be eaten by animals. Seeds were sown on barren thorny and thorny trees so that the seeds would take root on rain water. We chose seeds that can survive on less water so that the seeds we plant will take root quickly and will soon be ready to restore their greenness to nature even if they receive less water. And we have been successfully implementing this activity since 2019 as planned. We have not taken any form of money from any organization or person. We have so far planted more than 13000 thousand seeds in Sinnar taluka.

5. Evidence of Success

Since March 2019, we have been making tireless efforts to plant seeds on the wasteland of Sinnar taluka. In the beginning, it took some effort to impress this activity on the minds of the students. But gradually students started participating with great enthusiasm. They also developed the attitude of serving nature.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required

For the past three years, the project started by Tarupreet for environmental conservation has become a teacher for us. Many new things came to our attention on this occasion. In the beginning, it was risky for us to go to the barren plains for seeding, because we also went for seeding in areas where tigers and leopards roamed. Still we started our work taking care and following the advice of locals. In the first year, we had to work a little harder to collect the seeds.

Title of best Practice

ORGAN DONATION PROGRAMME

2. Objectives of the Practice

- 1) The said activity has been started to create public awareness about human organ donation among people in rural areas.
- 2) In a country like India, many people are fighting death while waiting for an organ and for them this initiative can be of great benefit.
- 3) If the said activity is undertaken at the college level, it can have a positive effect.

3. The Context

India is grappling with acute shortage of organs for transplantation. An estimated more than one million people suffer from end-stage organ failure, but relatively few receive transplants. At least 15 patients die every day waiting for organs. Also every ten minutes a new name is added to this waiting list.

So obviously the demand for organs is much higher than the availability.

4. The Practice

Mr. Subhash Kela, who earned his distinct reputation as an entrepreneur, with a firm determination to drive the welfare of humanity, personally started the important work of organ donation with our college in 2017. Ever since he involved the students of our college in the organ donation activity, his representatives and he himself came as a wife and explained to our students the need for organ donation, the importance of organ donation and the technical aspects of it through the said activity.

Human existence is fleeting and if we want to live even after death, we can give someone a direction to live by taking up the task of organ donation, devoting ourselves to it. We can turn someone's despair into happiness, we can become a smile on someone's lips. Vijay Kela created this feeling in the minds of our rural students. As a result of this, our students and faculty voluntarily became a part of the organ donation initiative. In the organ donation program conducted in the year 2017.

5. Evidence of success

Ever since the big and important movement like organ donation started in our college, many positive changes have been seen. This project which started with the efforts of Shri Subhash Nandalal Kela got a very good response from the college.

6. Problem encounter and Resources Requirement

Baragaon Pimpri is a village in the eastern part of Sinnar taluka in a very rural and drought prone area. It was a huge task to convince the students and rural people of such rural areas about activities like organ donation.

7.3 Institutional Distinctiveness

7.3.1

Portray the performance of the Institution in one area distinctive to its priority and thrust within 1000 words

Response:

Environmental Conservation

Arts and Commerce College Baragaon Pimpri run by Sane Guruji Shikshan Prasarak Mandal Nashik Road is a college in a rural and drought-prone area. Having closely experienced the lives of people affected by the unpredictable and erratic nature of rainfall, our college has taken a big step right from the beginning to conserve the changing environment. College of Arts and Commerce, Baragaon Pimpri and its surrounding area is a shallow and barren land, so the rainwater that falls here dries up quickly. Also, since the number of trees is less, there is not much scope for rain water to be blocked. Considering all these aspects, our college has started efforts to maintain the balance of the deteriorating environment by taking up environmental friendly activities and thinking about what special contribution we can make for this and are continuing even today. Between 15th May 2018 and 21st May 2018, our college worked hard and carried out a big project for water conservation at Baragaon Pimpri. To conserve water in the village, works like digging trenches on the mountains and creating check dams in the river area were done. At this time Prof. Sandeep Kapadi, Prof. Kiran Sonawane conducted a different activity by guiding the college students properly. Which was very beneficial for the environment.

In December 2019, in Deshwandi village of Sinnar taluka, our students made another attempt to drain the rainwater by digging a trench on the top of the hill.

Our college has also worked with the water Foundation to help create an environment friendly environment. During the year 2017-2018, we have done water conservation and related work under Pani Foundation. We got a spontaneous response for this. Prof. This activity was implemented under the guidance of Sandeep Kapadi and Prof. Kiran Sonawane. Village people also got a good response to this activity. Environment friendly activities are continuously implemented by the students of our college. For this, the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan in the college has always been at the forefront. At this time, our students have been enthusiastically doing the work of cleaning the village by going around the village. For that, they do not need any strict rules or coercion, and this is the uniqueness of our initiative. Students voluntarily participate in this activity and work on how to conserve the environment. As a part of environment conservation another different activity is done in our college and that is the student whose birthday is to plant a tree on that day. This innovative activity which is continuously going on in the college has not stopped even today. And the reason behind that is environmental conservation rooted in their minds. Since the children who work in the agricultural soil are our students, their intimacy with nature was already strong.

Our Mahavidyalaya has provided them a unique and desired platform for that. Our Mahavidyalaya is known as environment friendly. Because whenever the Gram Panchayat of Baragaon Pimpri village is in need of help, our college has rushed there. Be it cleaning the village or some water conservation scheme, our students have worked in it with equal enthusiasm. For this, the faculty who always guide our students are also seen working with the students individually and even today we are continuously carrying forward this vow. Along with Baragaon Pimpri village, our college has also done works for environmental improvement in the villages of Gulvanch, Nimgaon, Sulewadi, Patpimpri, Deshwandi which are close to the college.

Then for that our students have done many works like convincing people about the importance of cleanliness and encouraging them to plant trees. Apart from the activities decided by the university, our college has taken the initiative to successfully implement many other eco-friendly activities and it is still continuing unabated. Through Swachha Bharat Abhiyaan, our students and faculty have been carrying out environment-friendly activities. Activities like tree plantation, tree conservation, water conservation, environment cleanliness, plastic ban, etc. are on the minds of our students along with their parents. From going to the village and felling trees to picking up garbage, our students do all the work with passion. And they actively participate in it. They do not feel any deficiency in it. This is another side. Our college also doing work for environment through the NSS CAMP also. Many activity doing through the NSS CAMP every year. It means we always ready for saving to mother earth and her greenery. Inspired by the thoughts of Sane Guruji, we are all working faithfully to achieve the welfare of the entire mankind through these activities in the college. We intend to do many such works. We are ready to carry out more innovative activities in the future to conserve the environment. The opinion of our students is also positive in this regard and this matter is of special value and pride for us as well as for our college.
